

The George Washington University Historical Review is now accepting submissions for our 2021 Edition!

Papers must follow the guidelines below:

- Submissions must be from an undergraduate student at GW. Recent graduates may submit work completed prior to graduation. Graded papers must have received a grade of A- or higher in a course at GW.
- Submissions must focus on engaging historical topics.
- Submissions cannot have been previously published anywhere.
- Papers must be no longer than 7,500 words double-spaced excluding the bibliography and footnotes, but do still attach the bibliography and notes. Research essays are preferable, but analytical pieces will also be considered.
- Chicago-Style citations are required.
- You must be available throughout the summer to revise your submission.
- Only one submission per applicant is considered.

Please send your submission as a Microsoft Word document to gwhistoricalreview@gmail.com by 11:59 PM EST June 9, 2021 with “Essay Submission” in the subject line. In the body of your email please include:

- Your name and year.
- The class and professor for which the paper was originally written (if applicable).
- The date the paper was submitted to the class.
